

JUST FOR FUN

Halloween High Jinks

Add an extra dose of harmless revelry to your child's trick-or-treat season. BY ANDY NEMANN

Spooky Science

Make Halloween a bubbling and goey learning experience with the Halloween Science Kit. The kit includes enough materials to perform more than a dozen experiments, including making instant worms, glow-in-the-dark putty and screaming balloons. $89.95, stevespanglerscience.com

Pick a Winner

Kids will not have a problem digging their fingers into this Halloween candy. Box of Boogers is a tasty and tangy treat that comes in three flavors: Snottermelon, Sour Green Boogy and Lemon Loogy. $24 for 12 boxes, candywarehouse.com

I See You

Keep a sugar-coated eye on the kids with these yummy cookies you make and decorate together. The Crunchy Eyeballs Cookie Kit comes with everything needed to make sweet and ghoulish baked goods that look like eyeballs. $14, chasing-fireflies.com

There's Always Room for Brains

Create a Halloween dessert with real brain power. The Zombie Brain Gelatin Mold includes a recipe for a festive bright green gelatin brain that can be topped off with gummy worms (not included) for an extra juicy and ghoulish dish. $7.95, sciplus.com

Ghostly Gingerbread

Hansel and Gretel never came across a ghostly house this delicious. The Pre-Baked Halloween Cookie House Kit comes with an assembled gingerbread house, colorful candy, decorating icing and instructions to make three haunted house designs. $16.49, wilton.com

Avast Ye Pumpkin

Put down the carving knife, skip the messy cleanup, and turn your pumpkin into a swashbuckling jack-o'-lantern with the Mr. Potato Head Pirate Pumpkin Decorating Kit. It's just like the regular Mr. Potato Head, but the pieces are big enough for a pumpkin. $12, chasing-fireflies.com